The Real Baedeker.

An Englishman tells this incident of a trip he took to Russia. With him in his compartment of the train was an ex-cedingly well-informed German, and ccedingly well-informed German, and the two grew very friendly. Each was a stranger to the other.

They had talked for hours over a wide range of topics when the Englishman asked the German if he happened to have a Baedeker with him. It was too much for the warm-hearted Teuton. Bursting with a sudden and overwhelming enthusiasm, he beat his breast with both hands, exclaiming: "Gott in Himmel, I am it."

It was none other than Karl Baedeker himself.—Popular Magazine.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 6.—Coach Haughton plans to make several shifts in Harvard's line-up when the varsity reports for practice today. A better offensive machine is his aim. The right side of the line showed weak in last Saturday's game. The coaches eviidently do not fear Washington and Jefferson, next Saturday's opponents, as yesterday's work-out was very light. Agriculture, thanks to the good form of Gorman, was able to take two out of its three games with Interior. Next to Gorman, Feld, anchor man, showed up in best form. Navy administered a similar defeat to War, Miller proving the very backbone of the winning team.

Magoffin Is Named To Referee School Games

Paul P. Magoffin, Michigan, referee of last year's inter-high school championship football games, has again been selected to handle the series, having selected to handle the series, having been chosen by the board of high school faculty athletic advisers. The choice of umpire fell to Jack Gass, the old Lehigh end, whose work in former Lehigh end, whose work in former town the series as an official is well known. Cuthbert Farmer, former Tech athlete and coach of the Business High School eam of two years ago ,was nominated or head linesman.

Secretary Robert C. Maurer, of the athletic board, will wait upon the individuals today for their contracts to signatures. It is expected that little difficulty will be experienced in coming to terms with the officials.

to terms with the officials.

Through the efforts of Chairman E. S. Martin, of the Playgrounds Association, Vigilants Park will again be used. It is understood that hundreds of dollars have been spent in improvements to the park. The playing field will be inclosed as last year, and the arrangements are said to be more than satisfactory.

An important decision reached by the faculty advisers is that increasing the price of admission games this season. iew of the fact that the appointments will be of the best, and that the officials are the best that can be pro-cured in this section of the country, the advisers decided to raise the price

NNE STUDYING

This move it is explained will help the athletic association in the heavy expenses incurred in staging the series. For the past few years all of the athletic associations have borne a heavy debt at the conclusion of the series going shares on expenses. It is expected that the new move will tend to holster up the various funds and carry the series through without a loss. In addition it is pointed out that the athletic associations will gain in numbers as it will be cheaper to buy the season tickets than to pay for single games.

Cuthbert Farmer, chosen as head linesman for the high school series, is in 1909 and 1910 at Tech and coached Business in 1912. Last year he had charge of Firman University in South Carolina turning and applicable to the control of the control Carolina, turning out a creditable team. He has had considerable experience at officiating. At present he is playing with the Vigilants.

"Obie" Oberlin, Central High School tackle on the last championship team, turned out at the O street institution, is holding down tackle for the Maryland Aggles. Oberlin played at Lafaylette last year. He is a good all around athlete, having played first base on the Central ball team in the spring of 1913, and later came through behind Bob Western High School opens its football season tomorrow afternoon at Alexandria, with the high school team of that place. The loss of Brewer, Royer, Adams, Nicholson, and Captain Brady will be felt by the West Enders.

Tech will probably stack up against the Maryland Aggles some time this week for a practice in the endeavor to show something more than Paul White's Business charges, who surprised the Ag-gles with a strong defense. Wayne Hart promises a lighter, faster eleven than that which won the title last year.

"Untz" Brewer, "Tiny" Holmes, and Dunlap Castle, a newcomer at Cathed-ral, are holding down the backfield jobs at present for Coach Green's youngsters.

Central is boasting the smallest play-er in the high schools this year. Saxon, trying out for end, is said to weigh ninety-five pounds, and from all reports is delivering to the utmost satisfaction. While he has lots to learn, he is showing an aggressive spirit that puts shame the efforts of many others.

Little is heard of the Episcopal High School team at Alexandria these days. Local schoolboy teams will remember that the "Bless You" youngsters got into action more than a week before school opened in the city and are likely to put up a finished performance in their opening centests.

May Wear Numbers in Game With Georgetown

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 6.-"If the supporters of the eleven want the players to wear numbers in the big a former Tech quarterback. He played games, such as that with Georgetown and V. P. I., I am perfectly willing to allow it," says "Jogger" Elcock, head coach of the Washington and Lee team. "I do not agree with those who clairs numbering the players will assist the opponents in solving formations. That's all wrong. On the other hand, if numbers will aid the rooters in following the game, I am for the system."

Coach Elcock is now getting his squad ready for the big battle with Georgetown at Richmond. It is expected that one of the biggest crowds ever turning out to a game in the Virginia capital will be there when the Blue and Gray eleven lines up against the Generals.
